JANESVILLE MONDAY, JUNE 23.

MR. BLAINE AND THE TARIFF.

During the past two weeks there has been a good deal of talk in Washington in regard to the opinion of Mr. Blaine touching the McKimley bill. Among the reported interviews with the secretary of state is the following taken from the New York World:

Thursday Mr. Blaine was before the senate appropriation committee, explaining the necessity of appropriations for carrying out the recommendations of the Pan-American congress. In reply to a remark by Senator Hale, Mr. Blaine proceeded to tell the committee what in his judgment would be the effect of the McKimley tariff bill.

"The democrats are of the committee," Mr. Blaine said, "and I am of the majority. I wish you were not Mr. Secretary, and were in the senate to raise your voice against this McKimley bill. I wish so, too. It is the most dangerous it not the most infamous measure that was ever concocted by any party. The men who vote for this bill will wreck the republican party. If I were in the senate, I would rather have my right arm torn off than vote for this McKimley bill."

Senator Allison (with some feeling)—You are winking at Senator Blackburn across the table and are just saying this to please him.

Mr. Blaine—I was winking at Senator Blackburn because he was winking at me, but I say solemnly that this McKimley bill is an outrage and ought to be killed by the senate.

Mr. Blaine then finished the remarks he had outlined on the importance of the appropriation and retired.

It is more than likely that the alleged interview is greatly colored, as was the one recently printed in the Chicago Tribune, but the opinions credited to Mr. Blaine, none of which have been denied, serve to show how broad is the statesmanship of the secretary of state. He is as much a protectionist as ever. He has not changed his views on the general principles of protection, because they are as unchangeable as the laws which protect persons and property. It is said that what Mr. Blaine did condemn in the McKimley bill was the feature "which gives a free market in the United States to the products of sugar planters of the Southern continent and not asking in return free markets for the products of our own farmers, where we can get them merely for the asking."

Our democratic friends will not find much comfort in the position Mr. Blaine takes on the tariff question. He is still a protectionist, and if he does not altogether like the schedules of the McKimley bill, he prefers the bill with all its faults, to the dangerous provisions of the McKimley bill.

en will be nine feet in height and 60 feet in circumference. This big tree is to be taken from the mammoth forest in Tulare county, located fifty-two miles east of Tulare City, at an altitude of 6,325 feet above the level of the sea. The work of felling the tree has already begun. Ten skilled workmen have been engaged and are busy at work. The saw to be used in getting out these sections is twenty feet in length and is said to be the largest cross-cut saw ever made of one piece of steel. It will take ten men at least two months to complete all the work to be done.

The New York Tribune complains that there is too much log-rolling in congress. This is a complaint of long standing. The time consumed in log-rolling on such questions as public buildings and river and harbor is a waste of many weeks in each session of congress. It is not often that congress gets down to the business of legislating for the people. There are several important measures, such as postal savings bank, and postal telegraph system, that have been before congress for years, but the lobby representing monopolies and various corporations, have been too much for the people.

The report is that there will be a scarcity of fire crackers this season. If this proves true the coming Fourth will not be without its lightning.

MOSES TOOK A BACK SEAT.

A Bereaved Colored Husband with a Becoming Idea of His Rights.

A colored woman had died in a Georgia town and the friends and neighbors of the family were gathered in the church for the funeral services. Before the ceremony began the husband, a large, powerful, well-behaved man, stood up and addressed the assembly. He said: "I am the husband of the deceased, and I have come here to follow him to the rear of the church. Arrived there, the bereaved husband said: 'See here, Moses, I want an understanding with you before this funeral goes any further.'"

"What is it, Julius?" asked the other.

After a week, when we buried Henry Carter's wife you were right at hand. You crowded you self up to do front. When we weepin' begun you set you self to work, and moaned and took on, until Henry hadn't no show 'tall. Some of de white folks reckoned you was de bereaved you self."

"I dun couldn't help it Julius."

"You couldn't? Well, now, let me give you a plinter. Lucinda was my wife and nobody else's. She libed wid me an' died wid me, an' I've got to foot all de 'spenses. Now den, when de sadness begins I've number one from start to finish. I've de bereaved, while you is only an outside, who feels sad 'cause I've left all alone in dis cold world. You 'as got to keep shut. If you go to takin on like you did last week I've gwine to forget my great loss just long 'nuff to turn around an' give you such a lift dat you'll reckon you is de subject of de funeral. Do you 'lar me, Moses?"

"I does."

"Den cum along, and recommender what I've bin sayin'. Better take a seat in de back row an' hole you self down, for at de worry full whoop of sorrow I've gwine to light on you, wid 'fove of fo'teen hoss power!"

Moses took advice.

A Farmer's Practical Offer.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 23.—A singular offer comes to this city from a farmer named William Morgan of Lawrence county, Kan. He has read of the disaster and the distress which exists among the widows and orphans. He states that he is unable to forward any money, but he offered to marry one of the widows and provide for her and her children. He has no details, but invites correspondence, and gives every assurance of his good faith in the matter. The communication, which was received by the Mayor, has been submitted to Ashley relief committee, and they will open correspondence with the Western man.

A Drummer Cuts His Throat.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 23.—Robert Brocken, who registered from Indianapolis, Ind., was found dead in his room at the Fifth avenue hotel this evening with his throat cut and a bloody razor by his side. Letters in his valise show the dead man to have been a professional singer. One bundle of his correspondence was from a young woman in Chicago, but had no signature.

A Trust in Explosives.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 23.—A syndicate of torpedo men, to be known as the "High Explosive company," has been formed in the oil regions, with headquarters in this city. The trust will include all the nitro-glycerine firms in Western Pennsylvania and will have a capital stock of $100,000. The object of the trust is to prevent cutting of rates.

The Cleveland Strike.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 23.—The striking switchmen on the Lake Shore, Big Four, and Erie railroads have returned to work at the old Lake Shore scale. Those on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh, Valley, Cleveland, Canton & Southern, and Nickel-Plate roads are still out, but may return to their places Monday.

To Commemorate Spiritualism.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 23.—Joseph P. Hazard, a wealthy spiritualist, of South Kingston, has contrived for the erection of a tower, eleven stories high, at Tower hill, near Narragansett pier. It will be dedicated to the advent of modern spiritualism. The cost will be $30,000.

Flint-Glass Workers Strike.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 23.—The employees of McKee Brothers' flint glass works at Jeannette, Pa., have quit work because the firm employed a non-union workman from Rochester, N. Y. About 100 men are affected. The works have closed down.

Congressman Renominated.

CHICAGO, June 23.—The Republicans of the Third Congressional district met Saturday in Bricklayers' hall and nominated William E. Mason for Congress. Theodore C. Case received but 4 votes.

Fresh Milk for Baby McKee.

CAPE MAY, N. J., June 23.—Colonel Henry W. Sawyer has presented Mrs. Theodore Harrison with a fresh Alderney cow so that the children may have fresh milk at their seaside cottage.

POINTS ABOUT CENSUS.

Secretary Blaine Reported as Opposed to the Free Sugar Clause in the Tariff Bill.

HIS PLANS TO EXTEND AMERICAN COMMERCE.

He Thinks the Tariff on Sugar Should Be Retained as "Trading Stock"—Washington News.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—An intimate friend of Secretary Blaine said in reference to the committee-room colloquy: "It is well known that Mr. Blaine is opposed to the free sugar clause in the tariff bill. His letter on the reciprocity question makes that as clear as it possibly can be made. Mr. Blaine has not hesitated to express his opinion freely to members of Congress since the tariff bill was reported in opposition to putting sugar on the free list. He is in favor of free sugar, but he wants it brought about by reciprocity which will secure to the United States something in return for the great boon that would be conferred on Cuba and other countries to the south of us by given them a free market for their sugar. Mr. Blaine is also opposed to the increased duties on third class wool, particularly the South American wool. He is also, I understand, opposed to any reduction of the duties on Canadian lumber, taking the ground that in all these things wherever a concession is made to a foreign country something should be gained in return. Outside of that he has not expressed any opinion on the tariff bill, so far as I know, and I believe he is, with these exceptions, in favor of the bill. I know that what he said in the committee-room referred merely to sugar and wool, and his only opposition to those clauses was for the reason that he thought they should be used to open new markets for American products."

The presumption that the President, by transmitting the reciprocity communication to Congress, virtually approved it is denied. It is pointed out by a friend of the President that he transmitted the communication not with a special message, but simply as one of a series of State Department papers relating to the work of the Pan-American congress, as required by law. "The President," he said, "does not in fact endorse the reciprocity communication as practicable at this time, and he virtually said as much in his brief letter of transmittal. Another error which has crept into the papers within the last two days should be corrected also. He does not think it necessary to make public denial of every statement published about him, but he did say to-day: 'I am not opposed to the McKimley bill, and nobody is authorized to say so.'"

Representative Ben Butterworth, who vigorously attacked the McKimley bill on the floor of the House, says: "Mr. Blaine's letter is significant, and it is as timely as it is significant. He reflects the views of two-thirds of his party and the Administration will be sustained by the House in giving expression to the policy foreshadowed by the Secretary. I have known, or rather let me say I have had information I deemed reliable that the country would be surprised agreeably by the promulgation of a commercial policy which has for its object the extension of our trade and commerce to every part of this continent."

Effect of the McKimley Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The Senate finance committee has had made a comparative estimate of the effect of the McKimley bill as it passed the House and of the bill as amended by the Senate committee upon the revenues of the government, and the calculation upon the imports for 1889. The estimate shows that the revenues by the House bill would be $296,344,977 and by the Senate committee's bill $291,689,907, being a reduction of $4,655,070. The average rate of duty by the House bill is 52.80 per cent and by the Senate bill 51.97 per cent—a reduction of only 88-100 per cent. The Senate committee also struck out the whole of the reduction made by the House on internal revenue taxes—$10,327,878.

WHAT THE CENSUS SHOWS.

Population of Some of the Chief Cities of the United States.

NEW YORK, June 23.—The census supervisor says the total population of this city will be about 1,627,000. Brooklyn will have something over 900,000.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—The population of this city is estimated by the census supervisor at 1,040,000. The count has not yet been finished.

CHICAGO, June 23.—Supervisor Gilbert says the complete count will give this city a population of something like 1,750,000.

CINCINNATI, June 23.—The census returns show a population of about 300,000.

ST. LOUIS, June 23.—The city has, according to the census enumerators, 435,000.

NEW ORLEANS, June 23.—The census enumerators have completed less than half the districts. The population is estimated at 246,000.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 23.—Superintendent Conger says that Indianapolis will probably show a population of 125,000.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 23.—The census just finished shows the population of Columbus 113,792; a gain of 61,415 in ten years.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 23.—The census here is completed, and from the returns it shows the population is estimated at 248,000.

DETROIT, Mich., June 23.—It is claimed that 54,000 people were omitted from the census enumeration in Detroit. The population is estimated at 197,000.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 23.—The city's population, estimated from incomplete census returns, is 223,000.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 23.—Supervisor Spencer estimates the population of Louisville at 180,000.

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 23.—Unofficial reports give Des Moines a population of 53,000; Dubuque, 40,000; Sioux City, 35,000; Cedar Rapids, 28,000; Davenport and Burlington 30,000 each, and Marshalltown, 16,000.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 23.—The population of this city is made by the census over 500,000.

PITTSBURGH, June 23.—The census gives Pittsburgh's population approximately at 250,000.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The population is estimated at 200,000 by the new census.

NEW YORK'S POPULATION.

NEW YORK, June 23.—The Tribune states that census figures in this city will be made known to-morrow, showing that the population is over 1,500,000, and nearly 2,000,000.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effect. For seeing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

NO SETTLEMENT NEAR.

Detroit's Strike of the Carpenters Still On—An Official Police Officer.

DETROIT, Mich., June 23.—The strike of the carpenters for eight hours and 30 cents an hour has now lasted seven weeks, and the situation is growing more strained daily. The committee council has appointed a committee of five aldermen to see if some settlement can not be reached.

The success of the eight-hour movement at other points in late has greatly encouraged the Detroit strikers, and P. H. McGuire, secretary of the national committee at Philadelphia, continues to send large sums of money weekly. Several slight brushes between the pickets of the strikers and the police have occurred of late. The arrest of Secretary Harley of the strike committee Thursday evening by Chief of Police Borman was followed by Harley's discharge in the police court, it appearing that the chief became angry because Harley said the strikers were better advised of the law than the chief. Papers are being prepared for an action for damages for false imprisonment against Borman, who has several times been fined and has been reprimanded in court for exceeding his authority.

WILL OPEN AGAIN.

Cashier Akin's Statement as to the Park National Bank of Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 23.—John J. Akin, cashier, is authority for the statement that the Park National bank will open Tuesday and pay dollar for dollar. Mr. Akin this morning told several of his personal friends, depositors in the bank, that such would be the outcome of Bank Examiner Sturges' investigation. Akin has been working with Sturges ever since the closing of the bank Friday morning, and has satisfactorily explained the peculiar bookkeeping which the controller of currency thought was irregularity.

"There was no irregularity about it," Mr. Akin said to one of these personal friends, "and all this scare has been for nothing. The bank is perfectly solvent and has always been so. The stories told in the papers and the action of the government authorities will hurt us some, but will not prevent our paying each and every depositor and debtor in full. I do not think it will be necessary to appoint a receiver, for the books are in condition, and enough friends will stand by us to get us through the trouble all right."

LIQUOR FOR SUBSCRIBERS.

A Leeburg (Pa.) Editor to Open an Original Package House.

LEEBURG, Pa., June 23.—J. C. Skemmerhorn, editor of the Leeburg Reporter, this week announces his intention of opening an original package house here. The town has been a prohibitory district for many years, but the Reporter has reached the conclusion that prohibition is a failure. The editor writes: "When we advocated the erection of a brewery we lost ninety-seven subscribers, four columns of ads., and nearly lost our life. The Prohibitionists made our life a burden. We proposed a distillery, but it met the same fate. But, lo, comes the decision of Justice Fuller. We have made arrangements with a brewery firm outside the State and will soon open with a fine stock."

We Propose To Hustle

for a few days on "FOREST PARK".

The new water main is complete and we will sell 10 or 12 lots along that main for either improvement immediately; or to be improved during the next year, at fully $100 PER LOT less than they are worth. You will never have so good a time as now to get into the Forest. Janesville is bound to grow right along, things are shaping that way. The Third ward is the coming location for homes. The "Forest" is some of the best of that ward, why hesitate!

Yours very truly,

Geo. L. & Sarah H. Carrington.

One of Janesville's "Old Landmarks" was heard to remark a day or two since (referring to our proposed operations on the Burr Robbins' farm), "Why do these people open up outside property, when I have so much inside?" The inside property referred to is "inside" some other ward, than the Third, but every foot is less accessible, far less desirable than any of ours. We have no contention with any other owner or any other property; we know every sensible person in this city, who is unbiased, knows that all our holdings without exception are the finest in the city at our asking price. Our results show this to be the case.

Yours very truly,

Geo. L. & Sarah H. Carrington.

Riverview Park Never Looked Finer.

than it does now; in fact was never so beautiful, but from this day on it will grow more and more beautiful. Glen-Etta adjoins it, and likewise is growing. In these two additions we will sell a few more home sites at less than value. Home seekers cannot afford to locate till they see us. Several have done so and live to regret it. During this week we have sold two Forest Park lots; two in Glen-Etta and two in Riverview, and we are willing to repeat it within the next week.

Yours very truly,

Geo. L. & Sarah H. Carrington.
